Background Concept—

An ordinary, everyday Afro-Asian-American girl. Well, not so much. Very cute, rarely subtle, and is not afraid to be the center of attention. Member of Drama Club and is Fashion Editor for the school newspaper. Loves karaoke & lip synch, dancing, shopping, and spa makeovers. Is convinced she could be the next American Idol star if she could just get the right break. Empty family life—Dad is investment broker for a Korean bank and is often out of town. Mom is a civil rights activist who is running for office and, subsequently, is not around too often, either. To make up for it, her parents shower her with lots of money and gifts—but, she isn't greedy or stingy. She is very generous, and will happily share her money and her time. Really adores Cap'n Bingo's pirate style. Secretly wants everyone's approval, but will pretend it's not important to her. Slightly envious of Clutch's family life, but is still very happy to be his friend.
